RE: FYI/ARTHUR ULLIAN

On Monday afternoon, Sheila and I will be meeting with Arthur Ullian to discuss his ideas on biomedical research--breakthroughs in curing diseases--as a solution to health care and long-term care cost containment. (As I understand your conversation with him in Boston in February, you have some interest in a task force or informal advisory group on this issue.)

I have mentioned this issue to various disease groups--particularly persons working in arthritis--and it always excites people. It also may have some campaign interest--Nixon's "War on Cancer" redux.
